Listen to Lead: How to Harness the Power of Our Students' Voices

At New Tech Network (NTN), we believe that harnessing the power of student voices enables us to transform our schools into safe, supportive and inclusive learning environments. Join us in Dallas, Texas and explore how deeply listening to students can drive transformational change in your classroom, school, or district.

DAY ONE

Tour an NTN school and see our model firsthand. Following a tour, attend NTN's School Design Academy to begin your school redesign journey. Close out the day by attending the welcome reception and network with district and school leaders.

DAY TWO

Attend our anchor session on harnessing the power of student voice. Examine and experience what it means to be a listening leader and exchange constructive feedback with colleagues in order to develop actionable next steps for leveraging student voice in your school.

DAY THREE

Spend the day attending NTN-hosted excursions and incursions. Or, attend a mini-session and work with other school leaders to problem-solve individual and shared school-based challenges.
